

Inspired from gaming design. On the right, the optimal race line is projected in front of the car to assist the user when to accelerate and brake. On the left, we invert this process and project the desired trajectory of the car and color code it to show the intended actions of the autonomous vehicle

